Our Judicial System

Modern Courts Grew From Lawless Lands

EDITORS NOTE:—In connection with Law Day, which is being observed today by proclamation of President Eisenhower and Governor Leader, The Daily Record presents the second of four articles on "Our Judicial System" written for the newspaper by Chester H. Rhodes, president judge of the Pennsylvania Superior Court.

Hon. Chester H. Rhodes
President Judge
Pennsylvania Superior Court

AS I PREVIOUSLY stated, before the Norman Conquest in England in 1066, there were no lawyers, and justice was administered in a manner similar to that on the continent.

During the occupancy of England by the Romans, the Roman system was undoubtedly present. It appears, however, that when Rome abandoned England in the fifth century its system was no longer followed.

For 200 years thereafter the Angles, Saxons, and Jutes extended their conquest over most of England, and their systems were essentially those of tribal law and custom, with justice administered by the leaders of the tribes.

Harsh Cries Mark Debate On Emergency Legislation

WASHINGTON — Cries of "dole" and "socialism" punctuated House debate yesterday over a 1½-billion-dollar emergency unemployment compensation bill.

The measure, drafted by Democrats, came under fire from Republicans and many Southern Democrats who contended its cost was anybody's guess and that it would wreck the present federal-state jobless pay program.

The bill would pay 16 weeks of federal relief grants to killed workers whether or not they are eligible for benefits under state laws.

Opponents hoped to substitute an administration program calling for a 50 percent extension of present state benefits, with the states repaying the estimated 600-million-dollar cost after four years.

Economists Continue To Urge Reduction In Taxes

WASHINGTON — A wide variety of economists urged yesterday that tax cuts be thrown into the fight against recession, but there was no sign their advice would prevail.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention that the administration is continually discussing the question of a tax cut, but has reached no decision.

"Long range, the future looks good," Weeks said. "I believe the economy is leveling out and we will see a pickup by late summer or early fall."

Their appraisals came on a day when a panel of university, labor and business economists offered a Senate-House Economic subcommittee some varying views.

They coincided, too, with opening of House debate on a Democratic-backed bill to grant 1½ billion dollars in federal money for the relief of the unemployed.

Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), who prefers the Eisenhower plan of federal loans to the states to extend the period of unemployment compensation insurance, called the bill drafted by other Democrats "pure, unadulterated, unabridged, unabashed socialism."

Eisenhower Not Pushing Nixon To Top

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower yesterday interpreted a less-than-season drop in unemployment as evidence that the economic decline is flattening out.

But the President wouldn't go so far as to say a business upturn is beginning.

This was at a news conference at which Eisenhower sought to knock down the idea that his job is too much of a strain, that he may resign and that he is grooming Vice President Nixon as the next Republican candidate for the White House.

Essentially, Eisenhower read the economic barometer about as he has for several weeks. And once more he said that a tax cut still requires more study and analysis.

Announcement
The Commerce Department announced Tuesday that unemployment fell 78,000 between mid-March and mid-April, compared with decreases of about 200,000 in the corresponding periods of the last four years. The decline was the basis of the first question at the conference—a question whether the President thinks it marks the beginning of an upturn in the economy.

Eisenhower replied that he didn't think such a categorical statement could be made or that it could be said that "Well, now, we are on the highroad to an advance."

"I do believe," he added, "that there is a very continued and emphatic evidence that the decline is flattening out, and that is, it seems to me, the implication of those figures."

The President sailed through his sixth straight weekly session with newsmen in smiling good humor. He is nearing his record of eight successive conferences set in 1954.

Some of the questions fired yesterday dealt with:
Pentagon Reorganization — The former general said the core of the controversial reorganization plan he placed before Congress is power for the secretary of defense to carry out a unified strategy effectively. Ruling out any compromise on principle, Eisenhower said that any retreat from the heart of the program, "to my mind, is retreat to a certain degree of defenselessness that is inexcusable."

Politics — The President said that "I don't have any responsibility for trying to groom any successor," although he does have a duty to keep Nixon informed on all operations and major decisions of the government in the event he himself becomes incapacitated for any reason.

Otherwise Nixon would have to start from scratch. Instead, he said, the vice president is "certainly right up with everything."

Nixon is considered the outstanding prospect for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960. But Eisenhower said the GOP has "a lot of darn good men" and as far as he is concerned, "the candidate will be named by the Republican party."

Resignation — Some quarters, a reporter remarked, interpreted what he termed Eisenhower's "show of Dutch dander" at last week's news conference as an indication that the burdens of office are becoming onerous and that the President "would step aside and favor Mr. Nixon."

"I just say this: I took on something that I think is a duty, and I'm going to perform that duty as long as I think I am capable of doing it," the President answered.

Arctic Inspection — The President said his proposal for an arctic inspection zone was made seriously and honestly to allay fears about American bombers soaring over the Polar regions on practice alerts. He said it was almost silly for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to charge the proposal was a publicity stunt.

Clean Bombs — The whole policy of the United States, Eisenhower said, is to have cleaner nuclear weapons—that is weapons with less radioactive fallout.

The President was replying here to a weekend statement by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) that the United States has been making some of its stockpile of nuclear weapons dirtier while the administration says it wants cleaner bombs.

Students To Hear Problems
OKLAHOMA CITY — The brains of the Air Force space projects will try to tell 6,000 picked high school students the problems that have to be licked to get a man in space.

From Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the ballistic missile division, to E. R. Quesada, special assistant to President Eisenhower, men who are shooting for the moon will outline their work today.

Farm Prices Rise To High Level

WASHINGTON — A further rise of 1.14 per cent during the month ended April 15 sent farm prices to the highest level since the Eisenhower administration took office in January 1953.

This increase, reported by the Agriculture Department yesterday, came on top of a 4 per cent advance in the previous month. They helped put farm prices nearly 10 per cent above a year earlier and about 18 per cent above the low point during the present administration—December 1955.

This development strengthened Secretary of Agriculture Benson in recent predictions that farm income would be from 5 to 10 per cent higher this year than last.

Like Advance
But the increase in farm prices was accompanied by a like advance in prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and in family living. The latter prices established a high, three per cent above a year earlier.

Primarily responsible for the latest increase in prices received by farmers were record high prices for fruits and vegetables and a substantial rise in prices for cotton and corn. Bad weather in Southern producing areas was a major factor in the increase in fruits and vegetables.

The new price report did not reflect modest downturns in prices of hogs and cattle that have taken place since mid-April. These declines, which were largely seasonal, came on the heels of anticipated increases in marketings of meat animals. Meat animal prices have been running about a third higher than a year ago.

Livengood In Favor Of Shortway

YORK, Pa. — Arthur T. McGonigle, Republican organization-backed candidate for governor, declared yesterday it is "the solemn duty of government" to protect the public and union members from irresponsible labor leaders.

In an address to a York County political rally McGonigle reiterated a promise to put in his administration a man from the "ranks of labor."

Meanwhile, in Washington, GOP State Chairman George Bloom said Harold Stassen's campaign for the Republican nomination for governor can't possibly succeed unless the GOP steers a lot more than a million party voters to the polls on May 20.

Bloom said he is confident that should only 40 per cent of Pennsylvania's 2,800,000 registered Republicans turn out on primary election day the organizational ticket will emerge triumphant.

Bloom was attacked by William S. Livengood Jr., another Republican independent for governor, in speeches at Bloomsburg for what Livengood described as the "rule or ruin tactics which has to a large extent lost Republican votes in the city areas."

Bloom of practicing "terror and intimidation" among party followers.

At a press conference in Bloomsburg Livengood said he would work for early completion of the Keystone Shortway from Sharon to Stroudsburg.

But he said he couldn't pledge that the shortway would be completed by 1965 if he is elected. He said he doesn't understand enough about the technical problems involved to make such a promise.

The Keystone Shortway Assn. is working for the 1956 target date.

Financial Backing

Senators Favor Aid To Railroads

WASHINGTON — A Senate subcommittee recommended yesterday broad government financial backing to stimulate the hard-hit railroads. The proposal is similar to one put forth by the Eisenhower administration but goes considerably further.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.), subcommittee chairman, said it would avert "a catastrophe in the transportation system."

Auto Firms At Work As Unit

DETROIT — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler were reported yesterday to be working quietly behind the scenes in a joint effort to reach a wage settlement with the United Auto Workers by the end of May.

This would be industrywide bargaining for the first time.

Company spokesmen declined comment on the extent of co-operation. But their actions spoke louder than words.

Before leading his team into a bargaining session with the union yesterday morning, Ford's John S. Bugas applauded General Motors for serving notice of termination of contract on the union Tuesday. GM's action had the effect of challenging the union to strike at midnight May 29—three days before Ford and Chrysler contracts expire.

Reluctant Stand
In Washington, UAW President Walter P. Reuther reiterated the union's stand. He said "We're not going to strike or do anything rash in the middle of a situation" in which there is a backlog of 850,000 unsold new cars.

Under terms of its contract, GM could have sat back and waited another month, giving the union the option of terminating the GM contract after it dealt with the other companies.

"I think it is very sound negotiating procedure in the circumstances in which we find ourselves," said Bugas, who is Ford's vice president for industrial relations.

The smiling Bugas obviously pleased that GM was seeking a quick showdown with the union.

The companies declined comment on a report they will have a new offer to make to the union by the middle of May.

The auto industry has an average hourly wage of $2.40.

Dates For Meeting

PITTSBURGH — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald yesterday scheduled a meeting of the union's 170-member Wage Policy Committee for May 14 and 15 in Chicago.

Nixon In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — Vice President Nixon arrived for today's inauguration of Arturo Frondizi as president, and congratulated Argentina on its first free election in more than a decade.

The big difference is the commerce subcommittee's call for repeal of the 3 per cent excise tax on freight and 10 per cent tax on passenger tickets—action which the railroads have long demanded.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks says this should be considered later along with the question of tax reductions in general.

Both the administration proposal and the subcommittee recommended govern-

U.S. Fliers Linked To Rebel Forces

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Indonesia charged yesterday that U.S. soldiers of fortune are flying bombing missions in a stepped up rebel air war in eastern Indonesia.

The charge came from Premier Djanda as the rebel radio on North Celebes claimed that rebel planes bombed and sunk a Soviet-supplied ship carrying troops across the Strait of Makassar to Celebes Tuesday.

Djanda demanded that the United States order its citizens to stop helping the rebels and warned of serious effect on U.S.-Indonesian relations.

Declines Comment
The U.S. ambassador to Indonesia, Howard P. Jones, declined to comment on Djanda's charge.

Djanda said the Indonesian public is becoming indignant over the alleged use of U.S. pilots by the rebels in North Celebes. The United States, he said, must prevent its nationals from selling arms, planes, ships or any other material to the rebels.

Asserting that his government is determined to wipe out the rebels in North Celebes quickly, he said Indonesia rules out completely any necessity of requesting aid from foreign technicians. This apparently was a reference to rebel charges that Soviet bloc personnel were manning government planes and ships.

The Premier said Nationalist Chinese, too, were flying in rebel missions.

Department
The State Department, in freeing Egypt's funds, cautiously welcomed the Suez Canal agreement, explaining it wiped out the need to keep the money as protection for American shippers who might use the waterway.

These steps include, however: 1. Allowing CARE, a private relief organization to resume operations in Egypt; 2. Beginning a student exchange program for Egyptian and American scholars and 3. granting export licenses Egypt needs to buy road building and other commercial equipment on the American market.

2,000 People Visit Ninth Hotel Show

APPROXIMATELY 800 persons yesterday attended the closing session of the ninth annual Pocono Mountains Hotel and Restaurant Show bringing the two-day total to about 2,000.

J. Horace Strunk, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, described the show as one of the most successful ever held here.

Joint Sponsorship
It was sponsored jointly by the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and the North-eastern Pennsylvania Restaurant Assn. and attracted approximately 70 exhibitors.

It was held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel garage.

U.S. Clears Large Assets In Egypt
WASHINGTON — The United States yesterday unfroze 26 million dollars in Egyptian government assets in a major move to restore friendly relations with President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The action, announced by the Treasury with State Department approval, came as the Egyptian leader toured Moscow as honored guest of the Soviet government.

It followed by some 24 hours Egypt's pledge to pay Britain and France about 82 million dollars to settle the bitter dispute which erupted over Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal 20 months ago.

Search To Resume For Body Today

LEHIGHTON — An unidentified fisherman drowned two and one-half miles east of here yesterday at 12:05 p.m. it was announced last night by State Police of the area barracks.

The drowning occurred at Harrity Dam, one-half mile north of Route 209 in Franklin Township and the body was still missing when the search was halted last night.

Two eye witnesses to the tragedy told stories that were virtually alike to Troopers Jay Ziegler and Joseph Yanall.

Donald S. Arner, Palmerton R.D.2, was fishing 250 yards from the victim in Big Creek. Arner pointed out that he saw a male fisherman dressed in a blue shirt, with high boots, walk across the crest of the falls and suddenly slip. The witnesses said that the victim tried to throw himself toward the shore, but fell into the water.

Races To Spot
The Palmerton area resident raced to the spot and saw one hand rise from the depths and then sink down as the body was apparently caught in undertow.

Thomas Heffelfinger, another witness, of 311 E. White St., Summit Hill, told police:

"I saw him attempt to cross the boardwalk on top of the dam. I turned my attention back to fishing, but suddenly heard someone yell."

Heffelfinger went on to say, "I looked up in time to see the man at the foot of the falls. The body was spinning, in a head-over-heels fashion, but quickly sank out of sight."

At the point where the body sank out of sight the water is 20 feet deep, Lehighnton police reported. They also reported that visibility in the water is very poor.

The crest of the falls is approximately 75 feet wide, police reported.

Trooper Ziegler reported that the search for the body began immediately and halted for the night at approximately 11:30. It will resume today at 10 a.m.

Assistance
Assisting police in the search were the Lehighnton Fire Co., under Chief Corbin Solt; Weisport Civil Defense, directed by Captain Walter Zimmerman; Carbon County CAP, under the direction of Second Lieutenant Glen Wallace of Parryville.

A volunteer skin diving unit from Tiford worked from 7 p.m. to 11:30 in a futile effort to find the body.

The Parryville Borough Fire Co. set up watch at the Parryville Dam, in case the body should wash down the stream to that point.

Good Morning!

The hardest tumble any man can take is to fall over his own stuff.

Courts Grow From Lands Of Lawless

equitable principles on the law side.

By the Act of 1836, Pennsylvania received a separate equity court; and, although the same judges who sit in the common pleas court also sit in equity court, the two are separate and distinct tribunals from the standpoint of the principles applied and the remedies available.

By the time America was colonized, the English system of courts was fairly well established. The King's Bench had criminal jurisdiction, the common pleas had general civil jurisdiction, and, to some extent, there was equitable jurisdiction in the chancery court, although the common pleas court had not relinquished its complete equitable powers.

In 1644, King Charles II granted a charter to the Duke of York covering the land occupied by the Dutch. In due time the English obtained possession of this territory along the Delaware River, and the laws of England were applied so that "public welfare and common justice" would be accomplished.

On June 14, 1681, William Penn assumed possession of the colony by virtue of a royal charter which gave him power to appoint and establish judgeships, justices, magistrates, and to make ordinances for the preservation of peace and the better government of the people according to the "laws agreed upon in England."

These laws provided, among other things, "that all courts shall be open, and justice shall be neither sold, denied or delayed . . . that in all courts all persons of all persuasions may freely appear in their own way, and according to their own manner, and there personally plead their own cause themselves, or, if unable, by their friends . . . That all trials shall be by 12 men, and as near as may be, peers or equals, and of the neighborhood, and men without just exception."

Where the life of the accused was in jeopardy, it was provided that a grand inquest or a grand jury composed of 24 persons be held, at least 12 of whom had to agree that the accused should be brought to trial.

From the time of William Penn until the Revolutionary War, there were a number of statutes enacted which related to the administration of justice, and there was some dispute between the English Government and the Colonial Government concerning these laws and the system of judicial administration.

The struggle was not resolved until the Revolution made the colonies free from the control of the English Government. It was during this formative period that our present system of courts began to develop and take on the form they have today.

Under the Federal Constitution of 1787, Congress has set up federal courts inferior to the Supreme Court of the United States. Consequently, in addition to the local and appellate courts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, there exists a system of federal courts for the administration of justice where federal law is involved.

In many instances the legal relationship between persons, including corporations, depends upon state laws, and this is determined generally in the state courts. In other instances their legal relationship may involve the federal law, and this generally is determined in the federal courts.

In some instances a matter may involve both state and federal law and be determined in either or both courts. The criminal law provides an example.

If a person unlawfully produces or sells alcoholic beverages or narcotics, he may be tried in both the state and federal courts, and it is possible that he may be sentenced to imprisonment by either or both.

The federal system is similar to that of the Pennsylvania courts. Those with local characteristics are called district courts in which most cases are initiated. In Pennsylvania there are three federal districts—eastern, middle, and western. Each district has a chief judge with one or more associates.

Above these courts is the court of appeals which hears from the decisions of the district courts. From the circuit court, appeals may be had to the United States Supreme Court by special allowance.

The United States Supreme Court may allow appeals from a final state adjudication if it considers that a substantial question of federal law is involved. In addition to this system of federal courts there exists in the federal government a number of specialized courts such as Court of Claims, Tax Court, and others.

Telephone Group Names Five Officers

FIVE NEW officers were appointed in the Monroe County Civil Defense Control Center Telephone Division Tuesday night during a meeting of the unit held in the Court House. Some 50 division volunteers attended.

Appointed as Control Center Chief was Kathryn Bush. She in turn appointed the following assistants: Janice Price, Blanche Mackey, Mary Burnett and Helen Williams.

Two Speakers
Following an address by Jack Anderson, eastern area director of the State CD Council, on the operations of Civil Defense on state and federal levels, Monroe County Director C. Marshall Reese spoke on the county level. A schedule of operations for the forthcoming nation-wide CD "Operation Alert 1958." After the meeting, the volunteers joined respective groups for CD operations training classes.

Stroud Union Presented $11,647.91

(Record Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG—Stroud Union School District has been forwarded a school building subsidy check totaling $11,647.91. The Daily Record learned yesterday from the State Department of Public Instruction.

The state aid represents the state's share of reimbursement to the local school district on an equalized basis for authority rentals and sinking fund charges on school buildings handled via local authorities.

Roughly $47-and-one-half million was set up by the 1957 Legislature to cover such types of local reimbursement, with the state contribution averaging roughly half of the overall local cost. The current payment covers part of the school year ending in July, 1958.

Program Slated For Friday

ALLENTOWN — One of the top entertainment attractions of the year has been booked by A. J. Perry for Friday night at the Allentown Fairgrounds, starting at 7 p.m.

Alan Freed and a cast of 60 persons will present the "Big Beat," a six-hour program, in the new ballroom on the fairgrounds. Four "name" bands will provide music for dancing and take part in the entertainment program.

Numbered among the 17 attractions are Jerry Lee Lewis and his band; Jo Ann Campbell, blues singer; Larry Williams and orchestra; Buddy Holly and the Crickets; Chuck Berry, guitarist; Frankie Lymon, boy singer; the Diamonds quartet; Billy Ford and the Thunderbirds; Billy and Lillie; Danny and the Juniors; the Chantels; the Pastels; Dicky Doo and the Dons; Screamin' Jay Hawkins; Ed Townsend, and Sam "the Man" Taylor, who is featured with Alan Freed's Rocking Band.

Proclamation In Observance Of Law Day

A PROCLAMATION designating today as Law Day-USA was signed yesterday by the four burgesses in Monroe County.

The observance is sponsored locally by the Monroe County Bar Assn. in cooperation with the American Bar Assn. as a means of combatting the idea that May 1 belongs to the Communists.

"Individual freedom under law is the birthright of all Americans," the proclamation says. "Laws and courts exist to protect every citizen, in his person and property, and in the individual rights and privileges he enjoys under our federal and state constitutions."

"It is this liberty and equality for the individual which distinguishes our system of government from Communism, under which millions of people are today living in slavery. Without laws and courts the freedom we often take for granted would be meaningless."

The proclamation calls upon the citizens of Monroe County to participate in the observance of Law Day-USA and to join in any program whose purpose it is to focus public attention on the important part that law has played in America's growth and achievement.

"The present status of world affairs makes it especially fitting that our people should at this time reaffirm their faith in the rule of law and their determination to strengthen it," the proclamation adds.

It was signed by Burgesses Gerald M. Possinger, Mount Pocono; Benjamin Wiberg, Delaware Water Gap; Edward A. Duran, Stroudsburg; and Jesse R. S. Flory, East Stroudsburg.

Contractor's Body Found In Car

GOULDSBORO—The body of a 47-year-old Moscow building contractor was found in his automobile parked at Lake Wawagwa, near here, yesterday.

Howard H. Raught, Wayne County coroner, issued a verdict of suicide. He said his examination and that of State Police from the Honesdale barracks showed "no possibility" of foul play.

Passing Motorist

Raught said George Thomas had attached a hose to the exhaust pipe of his car and ran it through a vent in the machine to the inside of machine. Raught said Thomas had been dead since Monday afternoon. The body was discovered by a passing motorist.

Thomas was the son of T. Thomas Thomas, former Luzerne County treasurer. He was a native of Wilkes-Barre.

Surviving, in addition to his father, are his wife, Lois, and two sons, Dayton, Mount Pocono, RD, and Theodore, with the U. S. Marine Corps at Miami, Fla.

The body was taken to a Wilkes-Barre funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

Local Group To Attend Convention

THE CATHEDRAL Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, will be host to the 87th annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Bethlehem tomorrow and Saturday.

Rev. Frederick J. Warncke, Bishop of Diocese, will give his annual address at the opening service Friday night.

Very Rev. Benjamin Minifie, Dean of the Cathedral, will conduct the service assisted by Diocesan clergy. All of the clergy of the Diocese will be in the great procession.

The first session of the convention will be held tomorrow night following the service. At this time Bishop Warncke will announce committee appointments and receive nominations for Diocesan officers.

Holy Communion
The Bishop will be the celebrant at a service of Holy Communion Saturday morning.

Following breakfast the convention will hear reports from diocesan officers, departments and institutions. Officers for the new year will be elected.

Business of the Convention will include the planning of the Program for the Diocese for the year 1959, and the consideration of a recommendation made by the Executive Council that there be a capital funds drive next Spring. The purpose of the drive would be to strengthen the present churches by helping them to secure buildings and equipment they need; to provide equipment for the Diocese and for Diocesan institutions and to purchase land for future churches.

Lloyd Groth of Bethlehem is chairman in charge of arrangements.

Representing Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg at this Convention will be Rev. Charles A. Park, Philip R. Hardaker, Durrell Nader and Edmund Persons.

Shawnee Inn Opens For Season Today

SHAWNEE INN opens for its 47th season today. This will mark Fred Waring's 15th anniversary as owner-operator of the Inn.

One of the Inn's most famous guests — comedian-orchestra leader Jackie Gleason — will be on deck for opening day. Gleason checked in on Friday, April 25.

He's been out on the golf course every morning since then at 7:45.

This year also marks the return of the Inn's traditional opening party.

Scheduled for Saturday night the party will have a "New Year" theme—because, as Weldon Garrison, manager, said: "Our guests aren't able to celebrate the real New Year's Eve with us since we're not open. Therefore, we're asking them to help us celebrate the beginning of our New Year."

Open House

The party will serve as an open house. Offices of all department heads will be decorated with signs welcoming visitors and urging them to drop in and meet the officials.

No formal invitations are to be sent out for the party. Besides Inn guests and Shawnee Country Club members, the party will also attract residents of the Pocono Mountains area.

Centers of conversation this year, according to Garrison, are almost certain to be the newly-decorated Totem Pole room with a bigger bar and a decor in turquoise and white with Indian motif. The Country Club will also have a new bar this season.

Another major new feature will be the Inn's second swimming pool. It is tentatively scheduled for completion on June 11.

Date Set For Banquet

SATURDAY, June 14 was set as the date for the annual alumni banquet and dance at a meeting of the East Stroudsburg High School Alumni Assn. this week.

The affair will be held at the Bushkill Falls House and will start at 7:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the high school and at Counterman's Drug Store.

President James Harmon was in charge of the meeting.

Services For Mrs. Snyder

FUNERAL services for Mrs. Ida Mae Snyder were held yesterday in the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home.

Rev. Frank Blatt officiated and burial was in Stroudsburg Cemetery. Pallbearers were Jerome Singer, William Heeter, Samuel Dyer and Lloyd Heller.

WVPO To Join In Observance

RADIO STATION WVPO will join the more than 3,000 radio stations across the country in the May observance of National Radio Month, General Manager Chester S. Miller announced last night.

"Radio is close to you" is the theme of this year's national salute to radio, which for the first time is being extended from a week to a month. Week-to-week variations on the theme will be developed to emphasize the different roles radio plays in the life of the individual, the community and the nation.

Miller said WVPO will feature radio's personalized service to its audience "at home," "on the move," "in the community" and "in all America."

WVPO will hold open house Friday, May 16 and during the month will award a table model radio to the oldest listener in the area, to the listener who listens in the most unusual place and to the listener who writes the best letter on "why they like to listen to WVPO," said Miller.

During the month, WVPO will conduct a promotion in cooperation with its retail advertising accounts. This will be announced within the next few days in The Daily Record and on WVPO.

Signal Depot To Entertain 120 Children

TOBYHANNA — Approximately 120 children from Our Lady of Fatima Institute in Elmhurst will be guests at a May party Saturday, given by the 579th Signal Co. at Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

Ages of the children range from five to 17.

Events planned for the party include games, a movie, bus tour of the post, demonstration by the Honor Guard and Drill Team, and a dance for the teen-age children.

Wives of men of the 579th Signal Co. will serve the refreshments.

Crag Herbicide Promising Chemical For Weed Control

WEEDING STRAWBER- RIES: While the hoe is still the best weed killer for the home gardener, we feel that Crag Herbicide has a definite place as a promising chemical for weed control in the strawberry patch.

This weedkiller does not kill weeds, but rather weed seeds, so to be effective you have to get it on before the weeds come up, or just as the new weed seedlings start to come up. It just won't work on grown-up weeds.

On new plantings you can use Crag as soon as the plants have become established (about three weeks after you set them). Early application may hurt the plants. Mix one level tablespoon of Crag to three gallons of water and sprinkle this on 200 square feet of plant area.

Applications can be repeated as often as new weeds begin to appear, except that Crag Herbicide should not be used during the period when the most productive new Summer plants are actively rooting (June or early July). August or September applications should be used if chickweed is a problem, and you can start about 1st of August.

On the old patch, you can apply it early in Spring, and again after the fruit is harvested. Do not use it after fruit buds appear or during the time when fruit is growing and ripening.

If Crag has failed to give you good results perhaps it was because the top layer of soil was dry. Moistening it by sprinkling with water, or applying just before a rain. We've had excellent success with Crag in the strawberry patch and the perennial bed.

Booster Solutions: Gardeners who set out flowers or vegetables aren't generally aware that a starter solution of fertilizer at planting setting time is a big help in getting bigger yields in quicker time.

Starter solutions are simple to use, and any high analysis liquid plant food such as 23-21-17 works fine. You simply put a teaspoon of the concentrated fertilizer in a couple quarts of water, and as you set your cabbage, tomato, pepper or other plants, you dip the roots in a solution and plant wet.

Another way to use the starter solution is to set the plant in the hole, pour in some solution and cover the roots with soil. Your plants will get off to a quick start.

A starter solution makes fertilizers available to young roots quickly, just the minute you do your transplanting, and thus makes plants grow faster, sooner. In using starter solutions, be sure to follow instructions, or try them on one or two plants experimentally.

Free: Ever try foliage feeding? Plants take nutrients thru leaves as well as through roots. We have a bulletin which tells you how to feed your plants liquid plant foods. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your copy of "Feeding Plants Liquid Plant Foods."

Question Box

R. F. of Stroudsburg: "I have a rotary power tiller for my garden and it does a good job beating up the soil. My neighbor has such a machine and he practically whips up his soil before planting. He goes over his soil dozens of times before planting, and even after planting. Do garden soils need such a working-over?"

No. We'd like to caution our friends who own rotary tiller garden tractors that over-tillage can ruin or make your soils miserable for plant growth. In fact, millions of dollars are lost each year by farmers just thru overworking the soil. Gardeners shouldn't make a lettuce bed out of their garden soil by repeatedly running their tillers over it. Fluffing up a soil, breaks down the soil structure, plugs the soil pores (which shuts out air to roots) and as a result your soil will turn to a sticky gumbo after the first rain.

Never try to work a clayey soil or one that's partly clayey while wet or you'll have rock-like lumps in the garden all summer. After your soil has been plowed or loosened, allow at least 2 days of dry weather airing before you get on it again. Failure to do this might make a brickyard out of your garden.

Gardeners whose soil is clayey should be careful about working it too soon in the spring. A clay soil is composed of very minute particles which have a large surface to absorb water. It's the high water content which causes stickiness, so try not to work a clay soil when wet. Working it too

Illnesses Of Mind Vary Greatly

EDITOR'S NOTE — In the interest of better mental health, The Daily Record presents this series of articles by Dr. George S. Stevenson with the cooperation of the Monroe County Mental Health Assn. Dr. Stevenson is medical consultant to the National Association for Mental Health and was presented by the local group here last December at a public meeting.

WITH AN increasing awareness of the problem of mental illness, the question most frequently asked of me is "Exactly What is Mental Illness?" People want to know if mental illness is only severe, if there is only one kind, and if it strikes at any particular time in life.

Actually, there are more than a hundred different kinds of mental disorders. They range from mild to severe; they occur at any time of life; they affect both men and women; and they affect the rich and poor alike.

One of the best pamphlets I've read on this subject has just been written by a staff member of the National Association for Mental Health. It is "Basic Facts About Mental Illness" by Harry Milt, Director of Public Information.

He says: When we speak of illness . . . any kind of illness . . . we mean that something is wrong with a person, something which makes a particular bodily organ, or group of organs, or the entire system perform in a way which is not normal. In mental illness, the abnormality is in the overall behavior of the entire person . . . in the way he acts, feels, and thinks.

Abnormal Behavior
Abnormal behavior is one way of describing mental illness. Another way is to think of it in terms of irrational behavior . . . behavior which doesn't make sense or solve anything!

It may also be thought of in terms of unrealistic behavior . . . behavior which is out of line with things as they really are.

Every one of us behaves abnormally, irrationally and unrealistically from time to time. We fly into a rage over some petty annoyance. We feel tense, anxious, depressed for no apparent reason. We do strange things under the influence of alcohol. This does not mean that we are mentally ill every time something like this happens. It is only when unusual behavior persists and fails to wear off after a while that mental illness is indicated.

The booklet also covers, in great detail, the symptoms and effects of the neuroses and psychoses, the various methods used to treat these illnesses, the professional people who treat these illnesses, the place where treatment is given, suggestions on obtaining information about appropriate treatment, and the chances of recovery from the mental illnesses.

History Club Of Bangor Wins Award

BANGOR — Work on behalf of the Bangor Public Library won the History Club of Bangor Area Joint High schools singular acclaim at a regional convention of History Clubs at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Recognition accorded the local group for its achievement of raising $415 for the library highlighted the program.

After reading of the plight of the library, which was threatened with a curtailment of services due to dwindling funds, the school organization volunteered to undertake a canvass of the community.

Not only was the drive a success but others also rallied to the support of the library and the over-all response greatly improved its financial structure.

Membership

Forty members of the club, together with the adviser, Edward C. Fishler, participated in the convention at the college. Regional officers were elected and a tour was made of the campus.

The state conclave will be held at Harrisburg May 8-9 but the local club, lacking the necessary funds, will not be represented according to present plans.

Club membership currently is open to seventh and eighth grade pupils only. Ninth grade students will be included next school term and eventually all grades from 7 to 12 will be able to join. Next year the group also proposes to put up nominees for regional offices.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

You might get frostbit trying to fill your May baskets this morning, but it's still a pleasant custom that I wish we did more of. There are a lot of doorknobs I'd like to hang May baskets on.

When I think of all the people I like and why: some for their kindness, some for their wit, some just because they're pleasant to look upon, and some because they're always mad at something and their uninhibited expression of their displeasure has a therapeutic value as good as a tonic.

Some people are as comfortable to be around as an old heat-up bathrobe on a cold morning. Some people are as bracing as a cold shower. Some people are funnier than the funniest television show and other people can make you feel that you are the brilliant one.

Some people are good to be doing things with: bridge, or golf, or bowling. Some people are good when you don't want to do anything but be yourself.

It isn't that I like everybody. Some of the most worthy of my acquaintances irritate me as much as a case of poison ivy, and for no logical reason. (Except perhaps that they make me feel guilty for not being worthy, too.) But one thing about poison ivy, it can make you forget far more important problems.

Ah people! I may not like them all, but I do enjoy them, even if it's only for getting in-igant at. Wherefore, it's fortunate that I see a lot of them, and for the most part at their most pleasant.

But it's also fortunate that I can get away from them, and with no one but the cat to see me as misanthropic as a bear with a sore head, a wet hen, a hornet's nest, or a jib cat, whatever that is.

In the process of trying to look it up in the thesaurus, I discover that the number of synonyms for such words as fear, cowardice, disrepute, malevolence, and revenge outnumber their opposites by about two to one.

Which might seem to indicate that people hate more than they love — or maybe they just like to talk about it more. Anyway, I still am hanging an imaginary May basket on your doorknob this morning.

Big Day In The City For Homemakers

If a lot of Monroe County families were left to cook their own dinners last night it was because 36 homemakers spent the day in New York City. The women, members of seven home extension study groups which have been meeting this winter, left by bus at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

They toured a pattern company in New York, took a boat trip around Manhattan Island, had a smorgasbord dinner at noon, went shopping and stopped for dinner at Chatham, N. J., on the way home.

Making the trip were: Stroudsburg: Mrs. Edward Stevens, Mrs. Elmer Fleming, Mrs. Chester Meisell, Mrs. Arlene Young, Mrs. Howard Clugston and Mrs. Claude Setzer. Tannersville: Mrs. Archer Law, Mrs. Harry Janson, Mrs. John Ruelman, Mrs. William Horst, Mrs. Jorgen Ask, and Mrs. Richard Post.

Clearview: Mrs. Walter Weber, Mrs. Ralph Potts, Mrs. Anton Vogler, Mrs. Carl Adelman, and Mrs. Harry Sturdevant. Gilbert: Mrs. Charles Hendry, Mrs. Robert Dunlap, Mrs. Luther Koehler, Mrs. Leon Keller, and Mrs. Natalie Barney.

Bartonsville: Mrs. Richard Coss, Mrs. Donald Hartman, Mrs. J. N. Canfield Jr., Mrs. Russell Bond, Mrs. Roy Schreck, Mrs. Andrew Weingartner. South Stroudsburg: Mrs. Ruth Zettlemoyer, Mrs. Townsend Tittle, Mrs. Forrest Haney. Hamilton Square: Mrs. Louis Pente and Mrs. Harold Dennis. And Mrs. May Smith, Mrs. A. H. Mathieson and Miss Margaret MacLaren, county home extension economist, who arranged for the outing.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Edinger, of Annandale, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lydia Anne Edinger, to Richard T. Redmiles Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Redmiles, also of Annandale.

Miss Edinger is the granddaughter of Fred Hardenshine, of Tannersville, and niece of Paul Edinger, of Stroudsburg. She is a sophomore at Annandale High School. Mr. Redmiles is in the U. S. Navy. They are planning to be married in the near future.

Dinner Tonight

Stroudsburg Camp 289, Patriotic Order of America, will hold its anniversary dinner at 6:30 p. m. today at the Odd Fellows Hall, Main St. Members are asked to take their pal gifts to the meeting.

Christian Pals Honor Past Presidents

Christian Pals Class of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church honored their past presidents as well as their teachers at a dessert meeting held on Monday night at the church. There were 41 present.

Mrs. Lila Rockefeller, former teacher; Mrs. Iva Stinson, present teacher and Mrs. William Davis, acting president were among the guests of honor including the past presidents: Mrs. Mary Crooks Haase, Miss Sara Dreher, Mrs. Kathryn Warrick, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Dorothy Clugston, Mrs. Mildred Beeher, Mrs. Lillian Marshall, Mrs. Helen Booth, Mrs. Gladys Howell, Mrs. Virginia Tebb, Mrs. Roberta Fetherman, Mrs. Margaret Miller, Mrs. Kathryn Stiff, Mrs. Marie Ruff, Mrs. Genevieve Elwell.

There were also letters read from past presidents from out-of-town, Mrs. Adelaide Richards, Forty-Fort; Mrs. Rachel Kresge Quick, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Gladys Edson, of Trenton, N. J.; and Mrs. Helen Benedict, of Lake Worth, Fla.

The class history, beginning in 1919, was read by Mrs. Mildred Beeher and Mrs. Dorothy Miller. A moment of silence was held in memory of deceased members: Mrs. Florence Howell, Mrs. Mercedes Anderson, Mildred Felker Warner, Mrs. Celestia Ackerman, Mrs. Earlmond Byers and Mrs. Margaret Fellercher.

Entertainment featured duets by Marilyn and Patricia Ruff with their mother, Mrs. Meril Ruff as accompanist. Program committee included Mrs. Dorothy Staples, Mrs. Gertrude Albert, Mrs. Virginia Tebb, Mrs. Roberta Fetherman, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Mildred Beeher, Mrs. Viva Marsh.

Dessert of strawberry sundaes and cakes were served from a table decorated with Spring flowers in yellow and white by the hostesses: Mrs. Helen Booth, chairman; Mrs. Catherine Wolverton; Mrs. Kathryn Stiff, Mrs. Sue Lee, Mrs. Lillian Roberts, Mrs. Esther Ford and Mrs. Florence Clark.

Children of the Shohola School, led by their musical instructor, Miss Helen Sebastianelli sang. The program began with a group of three songs, "Say It With Music," "No Man is an Island," and "I'll Walk With God." During an interlude, Miss Lynn Oelkers played a piano solo and Miss Mary Ann Ambler sang, "Alice Blue Gown." The program ended with the group singing, "In the Plaza," a song with Latin rhythm, "Grandfather's Clock," and "Louisiana Hay Ride" all of which were accompanied by rhythm instruments.

The hostesses served coffee and homemade coffee cakes, for which the Shohola ladies have become known throughout the county.

Plan Ahead To Purchase Good Food At Low Price

By Margaret MacLaren
Co. Ext. Home Economist
Penn State University

Food costs are going down! Wouldn't you like to be able to say that? You can, if you follow a few general rules. Remember, I didn't say prices are dropping, but your costs can go down. If you have never figured food costs per serving, you may be in for a surprise if you do.

The first rule I'm sure you know, but may not follow because it takes time—planning ahead. Time is important in the second rule, too—allow time for longer, slower cooking. Increased activities outside the home have cut down the time spent on cooking; so we depend more and more on the quick-cooking meats and frozen vegetables.

Meats, dried beans and peas, the protein foods vary in cost from 2 cents per serving for dried beans to $1.00 per serving for some steaks. Even the "special" buys in meats can be misleading. Spareribs, short ribs, and plate beef may be 50 percent higher per serving than beef chuck roasts because you are paying for additional bone, fat, and gristle. Those of you who are "liver lovers," beef and pork liver are just as nutritious as calves liver and cost about 1/3-1/2 as much per serving.

Remember the second rule—longer, slower cooking does the trick. Here's a tip to make roasts more palatable—dip in flour, score slightly to break connective tissues, then brown slices in hot fat, add cream of mushroom soup, onion soup, or beef gravy and simmer on top of the stove or in the oven at 300-325 deg. until tender. Incidentally, if you choose the oven method, why not cook the vegetables that way, too. Saves heat and money.

Did you know that canned corn costs 3-4 cents per serving, while the frozen variety costs 6-8 cents for the same portion? There's one place to cut costs in half. Fresh carrots, at 13-18 cents per pound will cost 4-6 cents per portion, and are always available. Canned tomatoes can be used in a variety of ways and cost approximately 4-6 cents per serving. By planning each week's purchases according to the family's tastes and the weekend specials, you can take advantage of an occasional price reduction.

Plan to include protein foods, fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, milk and dairy products in every day's menu. There are over 5,000 different items in all these food groups in our Monroe County stores. Be a smart shopper and take advantage of the good buys. Make a market list and stick to it. It's unexpected impulse buying that ruins the food budget. Take time when you shop to figure costs per serving and price per pound or ounce in buying such staples as flour, etc. Most of us have more time than money, so make the most of it.

Next week I'm going to give you some comparative costs of that ever-growing field—packaged mixes, versus the home recipes. I think you are in for a few surprises in this popular field of food buying.

Food Marketing Trends
Greens are coming into the market in quantity. Vary the usual greens with beet greens, kale, and spinach in the sweet side; tangy dandelion; or collards which resemble cabbage in taste.

Eggs should be 2-3c cheaper again this week. The fresh vegetable situation continues to improve. Snap beans, cucumbers, squash and egg plant are less expensive this week. Asparagus from New Jersey and all kinds of cooking greens from local sources are good buys.

Rhubarb from local sources is just beginning to arrive though New Jersey supplies are more important at the moment. Fresh strawberries are here from Florida and Louisiana, although the quality is variable.

Mental Health Program Theme At Hadassah

Dr. Charlotte Jordan and Maxwell Cohen presented a program on Mental Health at the meeting of the Stroudsburg Chapter of Hadassah on Tuesday night at the Temple Israel. Dr. Jordan presented a film. Cohen explained the functions of the Monroe County Mental Health Assn.

The association, he explained, is "basically an educational group which is seeking to educate its own members first." Most of the members and directors are laymen, he said, and explained its goals and needs.

At the Hadassah meeting, Mrs. S. J. Rubin was elected president for the coming year; Mrs. David Bernbaum, first vice president; Mrs. H. Popkin, second vice president; Mrs. M. Wilkins, treasurer; Mrs. I. Karpe, secretary, and Mrs. M. Fleischmann, corresponding secretary.

The group also discussed plans for the Israeli fashion show to be held on June 17.

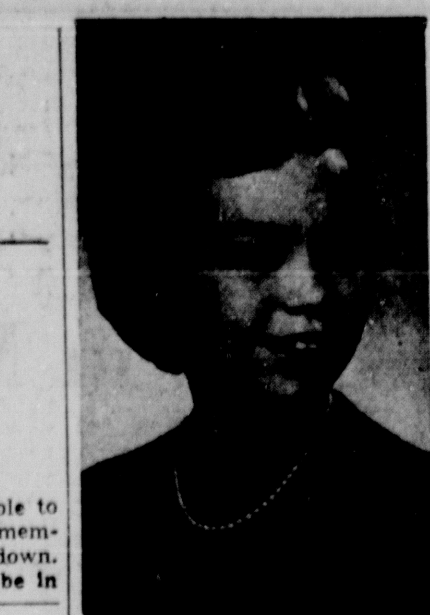

Saddle Club Meets Tonight

The first annual meeting of the Pocono Saddle Club will be held tonight at 8 at the club house. Officers will be elected for the coming year and plans will be discussed for the Horse Show.

Final decision will be made on the uniforms to be worn by the club members, and refreshments will be served.

The fresh vegetable situation continues to improve. Snap beans, cucumbers, squash and egg plant are less expensive this week. Asparagus from New Jersey and all kinds of cooking greens from local sources are good buys.

The Wyckoff Shopper

the friendly store

Seems to me that the girls of Wyckoff's are always looking for something to celebrate... and certainly their plan of surprising Ruth Wertheimer with a Stork Shower after work Monday was a timely thought. Since this is National Baby Week, Ruth, who works at our Sears Catalogue Order Desk, is one of those pleasant, quiet, friendly persons whom everyone wishes well. And so, while only about 35 employees (plus Mrs. Jesse Pierson and Mrs. Dick Fredenberg, wife of the Sears manager and his assistant) remained for the supper, almost everyone in the store contributed to the many lovely gifts.

There were exquisitely embroidered nylon robes and pillows, a complete set of Johnson medicated oils, powders and creams to keep Baby happy and comfortable, sacque-bootee and bonnet sets, all from our Wyckoff infants' department, and a beautiful folding carriage right out of the Sears catalogue. Ruth was delighted, but rather perplexed by two leather-covered books that were wrapped separately and resembled blanket clamps. Eleanor Rolph, who had arranged the surprise, explained that Ruth's husband, Kenneth, also a Sears employee, had been equally mystified by them when he put the carriage together. These books, it seems, are to be used whenever a car bed is required. This handsome carriage is, you see, a TRIPLE threat—for it also converts into a cozy bassinette.

The food was covered dish style, which is why none of the guests seem anxious to step on the scales today. Much of the cooking was done right in our major appliance department during store hours by Blanche Mackey—another factor that sets Wyckoff's apart from any other business establishment I know. Believe me, there's nothing tastier or juicier than chicken prepared in a FRIGIDAIRE oven... and nothing more crisp than cheese-stuffed celery that's been chilled before slicing in a FRIGIDAIRE refrigerator.

Looking at the calendar to see what other excuses we might find for partying, I note that May 10th to 16th is Let's Go Fishing Week. Anyone in favor of a Fish Fry? If not, we'll have to get in trim for a series of bridal showers in June!

For better or worse, if you note any change in my column of today you may attribute it to my beautiful new walnut desk. My boss is a man of quick perception and thoughtfulness... and when he recently noted that my work desk was hardly any larger than a typewriter table, he decided something must be done. As a result, Little Orphan Annie feels like Cinderella... even moreso, since Mr. Wyckoff tells me the station wagon, on its next trip to New York, will also be bringing me a swivel chair.

It's a good thing Monday was not a busy day in our office, for I certainly disrupted things, cleaning out old drawers, scrubbing the floor and baseboard all around my corner of the room, and rearranging the new desk. After being jogged up several flights of steps it needed a bit of furniture polish, and I used O. Cedar Touchup (35c a bottle) from our Floor Covering department. What a marvelous job it does!... Try it when you do your housecleaning. Do try and be a little less messy than I, however. How I managed to polish the calf of my left leg, and the inside of my upper right arm I still can't imagine—but I did. You know, sometimes I worry about me—I have such peculiar, no account talents!

Dr. Koehler Reviews History Of Pike Co. At PTA County Council At Shohola

Dingmans Ferry—Principal speaker at the Spring meeting of the Pike County Council of Parents and Teachers was Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. He was introduced by Mrs. John Lohden, president of the Shohola PTA which was the host organization last Thursday, April 24.

Speaking about Pike and Monroe Counties during the period of the Civil War, Dr. Koehler related many interesting and amusing anecdotes of the people and politics of those days. Going back to the time of the formation of Pike County in 1814, Dr. Koehler described some of the adventures of Zebelin Pike, after whom this county was named. He also told a number of stories about Tom Quick, the famous Indian fighter of this area.

Another illustrious son of Pike County, whom Dr. Koehler discussed, was Richard F. Brodhead who was United States Senator from 1851 to 1857. The only man who has gone to the United States Senate from this area, Brodhead was the father of the U. S. Claims Court and was a very able senator. However, because he was married to the niece of Jefferson Davis, who later became the president of the Confederacy, Brodhead was looked upon with suspicion as a Rebel sympathizer and was greatly discredited by the Republicans before his death.

Still another great figure of the Civil War period was John L. Nyce. Born and raised in Pike County, he was a lieutenant in the first company in the Civil War, led an entire regiment in the Battle of Stone Mountain, was wounded several times and became a colonel of the first regiment drafted in this section of Pennsylvania. After the war, Nyce was proclaimed by Stroudsburg as one of their war heroes, and was honored by being presented with a brace of pistols.

One of the many humorous anecdotes told by Dr. Koehler referred to a Judge Dimmick of Pike County, who, when he wanted to banish a culprit from the face of the earth, told him to "go to New Jersey."

The business meeting of the Pike County Council of Parents and Teachers was conducted by the president, Jack E. Thornton of Milford. A resume of the year's activities was given by the president of each of the member PTAs. Some of the numerous projects in which these active groups have participated included: 4-H work, lunch programs, sponsoring Club Scouts, Pan-American study, school curriculum study, health programs and a variety of other related interests. There were 105 present, including a large percentage of officers of the local groups.

All present officers were re-nominated and a single ballot was cast electing them for another term. As follows: Jack E. Thornton, president; Mrs. Ruth Hazen, 1st vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Dilling, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Marjorie Whitaker, 3rd vice president; Mrs. Anne Hoehne, 4th vice president; Mrs. Elsie Kubacker, secretary, and Mrs. Margaret Hunter, treasurer.

Children of the Shohola School, led by their musical instructor, Miss Helen Sebastianelli sang. The program began with a group of three songs, "Say It With Music," "No Man is an Island," and "I'll Walk With God." During an interlude, Miss Lynn Oelkers played a piano solo and Miss Mary Ann Ambler sang, "Alice Blue Gown." The program ended with the group singing, "In the Plaza," a song with Latin rhythm, "Grandfather's Clock," and "Louisiana Hay Ride" all of which were accompanied by rhythm instruments.

The hostesses served coffee and homemade coffee cakes, for which the Shohola ladies have become known throughout the county.

Stroud Union Signal Depot High Lists Orders Heavy In Area

TOBYHANNA — Tobyhanna Signal Depot spent $704,775 in local procurements during the first three months of this year, according to Francis S. Rotunda, purchasing officer.

Approximately 350 firms within a 50-mile radius of the depot shared the business.

Supplies purchased included electronic and automotive parts, diesel fuels, chemicals, hand tools, lumber, plumbing and heating parts, office supplies, ready-mixed concrete, stone, shale and gravel and other items.

The money spent by the depot in local purchases for the first quarter of this year compares with $573,320 during the last quarter of 1957.

During fiscal 1957 — July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957 — expenditures of $2,354,966 were made for local procurements.

Approximately 98 per cent of the firms receiving this business is in the small business category, defined by the government as one employing less than 500 persons.

Indiana Launches Fallout Check

INDIANAPOLIS — A continuing check of radioactivity in every county of Indiana will be started as soon as detectors can be placed in 400 state police cars, the auto of one conservation officer in each county, and 170 selected high schools.

Roland Knox, state Civil Defense director, said yesterday there was no indication that fallout has reached the danger point anywhere in Indiana or is likely to do so, but the installation of the detectors is a precaution against any unusual increase in radioactivity.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

For Thursday, May 1, 1958 — March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You do not have to be "there" to get the most from efforts. A calm, sturdy manner, with diplomatic overtones, can be equally successful.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — A day's work properly done is more easily accepted than a day's idleness. It will be compensation in itself, and a spur to do better in the future. Be on the outside for new avenues to improve your status.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A good time to try something novel in your work. This will provide a diversion from stale routine. For more harmony in business and marital relations.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Day calls for alertness, eagerness, clarity. Advice from loved ones may aid in solving current puzzles. Have more desire for self-improvement. It will pay.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Keep on your toes and stay off temptation now. Avoid Leo's buoyant nature and smile.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Mercury's position suggests that you be serene, think twice, and then make a move before deciding, or you may invite difficulties.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Your natural outgoing capacity can be turned to much good now. Forget annoyances and think big.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — A do-or-don't day. You may do one thing well, yet forget important details in another. You may remember everything, yet not complete matters as ably, with as much haste as at other times. TRY!

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — If you did not do as efficiently as you should have at certain times in the past (all capable people have this regret at times), start again NOW. Anna Marie.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Be prompt in handling all tasks. Forget others' failings. Don't forget you have YOURS, too. Put forth your best efforts, but don't try to exceed your limitations.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Work for now. You may have a special headway can be made in the unique, the original, in science, exploration, invention, with new devices and methods.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You can do a lot with this type of day if you refuse to listen to dissenters and trouble-makers. You will realize how much you have to be thankful for. Don't forget that.

BORN TODAY are well liked, affectionate, eager for activity, both mental and physical, and can make great strides when not wasting time with idlers. You can be the life of a party, an interesting conversationalist, a musician with tremendous verve, maybe a singer or speaker with unusual voice. Cultivate your assets; curb indulgence of Joe Admiration; post; Geo. Inness, painter.

OFF THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

HE IS GOING. John Whitehead is leaving these parts for a more lucrative position at Middletown (N.Y.) High School. The now ex-Stroudsburg High head football coach has accepted a similar post at the Empire State school after spending three years here guiding the destinies of the grid Mountaineers.

It will be quite a change for retired John. The 230-pound former East Stroudsburg State Teachers football star will not have 40 out for his middle eleven but will screen more than 100; and Whitehead will be going into an area where the football fortunes have reached rock bottom.

The possibility of 100 grid candidates and a low ebb in football wins makes the change by Whitehead an ideal move with regard to "everything to gain and practically nothing to lose."

Of course, the $6,300 salary, plus a possible $250 for being assistant baseball or wrestling coach isn't a hazard either. John will be making $1,500 more at Middletown than he was at Stroudsburg. This is quite a pay boost even for those in the collegiate ranks.

He will be missed this 24-hour a day football man. In our own survey of Mountaineer fans (over 100 were asked) not one failed to make the statement that they were not sorry to see him go. This is the sentiment of this writer also.

However, all felt the move was a fine one and all were glad that it was Whitehead who was getting the opportunity to show his wares on a bigger scale.

While his record at Stroudsburg High wasn't a winning one, Whitehead made a lasting impression on folks hereabouts. He got the most out of his comparatively small band of Mountaineers. On several occasions he received "beyond the call of duty" from his proteges.

Off the gridiron he was a gentleman who was called on many times to speak to the younger generation. What he imparted on the minds of these so-called little tikes will long be remembered by both the adults present and the youngsters.

John Whitehead was a true example of a true American. He was down to earth, more like the little band of immigrants who forged the way for us back in the early days of America. Still he wasn't too proud to take over a Sunday School teaching post. We are sure those who brushed against him in this extra-curricular duty never came into any harm, morally or physically.

We could go on and extol John's good points, and even criticize what we thought were his bad. But it would only lead us back to the former and the latter that we lost a real man. One who will be missed by Stroudsburg High, the borough of Stroudsburg, opponents of the Mountaineers, and fans from near and far. He is the type that leaves a lasting impression.

The resignation of Whitehead leaves two openings in head coaching positions at Stroudsburg High—basketball and football. On the court scene many applicants have entered their names in the race for the court berth. However, because of the short vacancy period in football, no candidates are in the waiting stage as yet.

From our peep-sight we can see only one choice. And that one is within the confines of the West Main St. institution. If we were in the seats of the Stroud Union school board we wouldn't hesitate to name Jerry Stulgaitis head football coach at Stroudsburg High.

While the moving of Whitehead was in the making stage, we sort of put out feelers to Stulgaitis on whether he would take the post if it were offered to him. A shrewd one from away back, the present Mountaineer baseball coach refused to commit himself.

But—this was our personal diagnosis—for the next hour and a half Stulgaitis and yours truly talked nothing but football. Let me share this with you.

He is a football man from the word go. Stulgaitis has a wealth of experience, plus the ability to put it across. Stroud Union school district could do no harm in renaming Stulgaitis to a position that he performed admirably in the past. There would be dissenters (fans), naturally. But the "fans" would far outweigh those against.

S-Burg Athletes Honored By 'S'

STROUDSBURG High's senior letter-winners and sophomore Billy Schoonover were honored at the annual banquet of the Varsity "S" Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel last night.

The fourth year letter-winners (13) were presented with jackets by Stroudsburg coaches (Jerry Stulgaitis, baseball; John Kupice, basketball; and John Whitehead, football).

STC Nine Loses, 11-3

BLOOMSBURG — East Stroudsburg Teachers' nine fell prey to an eight-run Bloomsburg STC rally and dropped a 11-3 decision to the Huskies here yesterday.

Jim Oplinger, locked in a 3-3 duel with Ben Franklin, was the victim of the sixth-inning Husky assault. Bob Daniels and Butch Hartman mopped up.

ESSTC outbait Bloomsburg, 10-7, but couldn't overcome the big sixth.

Remarks were made by Earl Groner, superintendent of Stroud Union Schools who pinpointed his talk on the "resignation" of athleticly wise — of football coach Whitehead and basketball mentor Kupice. He announced that he accepted both resignations with regret.

Also a speaker was T. Manning (Cap) Curtis, Stroudsburg director of athletics, who extolled the "S" group for the fine work it has done the past seven years.

Officers noted: Loney introduced the officers of the "S" Association, namely: Mahlon Serfass, vice president; Donald Gilpin, secretary; and Bob Singer, treasurer.

Bob Clark, sports editor of The Daily Record was toastmaster.

Eagles Trip Eastburg, 6-1

NAZARETH — A 5-run fifth inning cemented a 6-1 decision for Nazareth High over East Stroudsburg in a Lehigh-Northampton League baseball game here yesterday.

Foster Ladelle started for the Cavaliers and was going along in good shape until the Eagles fifth frame upsurge. Russ went all the way for Nazareth and was troubled only by Eastburg's catcher, Bob Heerman, who stroked out the only two hits off the Blue Eagle Moundsmen.

Golfing

With ALEX MORRISON

LESSON No. 3

PROPER BODY BALANCE and ACTION

Standing fully erect and swinging one leg across the other demonstrates the necessary body balance and action.

The proper Body Balance and Action for the Correct Golf Swing have to be acquired through training. You can be sure that you need this training if you have the least difficulty doing today's exercise.

First, stand fully erect and make a few swings back and forth with the clubhead traveling well above the ground. After loosening up let your left leg swing across your right leg in the backstroke. Then in the forward swing let your right leg swing across your left leg. When this is done without interrupting your swing it demonstrates the consistency of heel and toe balance needed to swing properly. This "Stork-like" balance, once mastered, makes for proper body action, as well as co-ordination of body and hands, both simple and easy.

Proposes Rowing Championships

MONTREUX, Switzerland (AP)—The executive committee of the International Rowing Federation proposed Tuesday that world rowing championships should be organized every four years.

The proposal is to be submitted to the federation's next congress, meeting at Poznan, Poland, during the 1958 European rowing championships in August.

Daily Record Survey

Teachers Offer Many Suggestions

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles on Monroe County education. Each will be based on the results of the county-wide survey conducted by the author for The Daily Record.

By Leonard Randolph
WHAT CHANGES on the State level would help produce better local schools?

Most Monroe County classroom teachers have several suggestions to make on this level. And most of those suggestions require revision of present attitudes toward education as well as current practices.

The most-often repeated demand for State action is in the field of teachers' salaries. Since the legislature mandates minimum salary requirements for teachers, the motive for improved salary schedules generally originates with the State in Pennsylvania.

But local teachers are equally vehement in some of their other suggestions for improvements to come from the Department of Public Instruction, the State Council of Education and the legislature.

Here are some of the most important:

1—Take the Department of Public Instruction "out of politics." There is a strong feeling among local educators that "politics" is destroying the faith of professional men and women in the Department. One teacher suggests that the Superintendent of Public Instruction (now appointed) be elected by educators instead, preferably through the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

2—There should be an overall stiffening of requirements for education. Suggestions include: Raising entrance requirements for Teachers College students; increasing standards for high school diplomas; revision of teacher certification laws; laws requiring teachers to take refresher courses.

4—More "grass roots" conferences on education should be held. The January conference on education called by Gov. Leader in Harrisburg wins commendation from several of those replying to the survey.

5—Much more attention must be paid to the gifted student's needs. Local teachers do not want to sacrifice existing "special education" for the mentally retarded, but they feel the gifted student's requirements have been overlooked too long.

6—The State should spend some time (and money) studying the "misfits" (the word is used by teachers) in present-day schools. Some program for their education, separate from other students, should be evolved.

7—Vocational high schools should be established on an area basis.

8—The compulsory attendance laws should be changed. Many teachers feel the State law is outmoded and is now working a handicap on education in high schools in general.

9—What teachers term "dead wood" in both the Department of Public Instruction and their own profession should be "weeded out" for the good of both groups and of education.

10—The State should "listen to the voices" of teachers and administrators when it establishes policies. (One suggestion: A conference of committees from the DPI, State Council of Education, legislature and the PSEA should meet and "hammer out a code of principles for effective instruction programs.")

APPRECIATION — First Lieutenant Ronald E. Philipp, Stroudsburg, recently was presented with a letter of appreciation for performance of duty at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.

Two Persons Injured In Pair Of Auto Accidents

MOUNT POCONO—Two persons were slightly injured in a pair of automobile accidents investigated by State Police of the local barracks yesterday afternoon.

At 12:15 p. m., a car driven by Robert Clune, 21, of 344 Amboy Ave., Metuchen, N. J., veered off Route 490 near Tobyhanna. The right rear wheel caught a large rock, almost shearing the wheel off.

Depot Ambulance Clune and his wife, Helene, 30, were taken by Tobyhanna Signal Depot ambulance to the depot dispensary where they were treated for face and body cuts and dislocated.

Troopers transported them to a point from where they could obtain public transportation home. The car was demolished. A car driven by Estelle O'Leary, Scranton, overturned in a ditch on Route 611, one-quarter mile north of Mount Pocono at 1:30 p. m. Neither the woman nor her husband, driving south, was attempting to make a left turn when she struck the ditch. Damage was $250.

On the way home from the fair the members of the group stopped at the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport where they were conducted on a tour of the buildings.

Transportation A bus was used to transport some of the children and cars were loaned by Mrs. Corona Kessler, Mrs. Betty Felzig and Mrs. Sue Stulgatus who also acted as chaperones with the teachers.

The trip was planned and arrangements made by Mrs. Cyphers.

Rev. Zuch Offers Talk

BARTONSVILLE—Rev. Robert Zuch spoke on "Christian Higher Education" at worship services at St. John's Lutheran Church Sunday morning.

Music was presented by organist Mildred Cyphers and the adult choir.

Flowers Flowers were presented by the Field family. Bulletins were donated by Mrs. Sally Harps.

Carl Cyphers was acolyte. Ushers were Ronald Swink and Thomas Field.

Name Omitted From Story

THE NAME of one brother was inadvertently omitted in the obituary of Mrs. Helen E. Hopkins, which appeared in yesterday's Daily Record.
